

Keeping Kids Safe Ministries

Safety Information

The next few paragraphs are to be read by all youth ministry workers; however, it is directed to youth ministry workers who struggle with secret sexual sin. Many men and women struggle with different kinds of secret sexual sin. It is typical for some youth workers to be convicted by God and not apply for volunteer positions working with kids at this time.

Some men and women know they have a serious sexual sin problem, but are afraid to ask for help. Some are afraid if their sin is exposed they may lose their family, job or face possible legal problems. If you are a person struggling with sexual thoughts of teens/children, or a person that views teen/child porn, please stop applying for a children's ministry position! You have an opportunity to back out NOW! Do not continue with pursuing this position. Most importantly, ask for help now before it is too late.

There are church men, and in some cases women, who share a secret sexual sin with a teenager or a child. Many struggle with this type of sexual sin and are looking for a way out. Many have prayed to God for healing of their sexual sin. This is the day God will use His power to give you courage to come forward for help. No teenager or child should have to carry the burden of keeping a shared secret sin. If you have a secret sin with a teen/child, God can't help your situation or bless you until you reveal this secret. This secret is too much for teens/children to have to deal with. Please bring things into the light by making an emergency phone call or visit to one of your church leaders now. You can begin today starting to make things right! You should be the one to tell the secret first, not the teenager or child that shares this secret with you.

If you have a shared secret sin, yet you choose to continue pursuing this youth ministry position, you are making a critical error. Most convicted offenders will tell you it wasn't their mistake of doing something dumb to get caught, but some unforeseen circumstance that was out of their control. It is now decision time! If you choose to continue in your secret sin, your chance of being exposed and locked up for life is great. If you choose to share your secret today, God promises to work in your life, treatment is an option, and the court system is more likely to work with you so the victim doesn't have to testify.
